Magothy River and Cocks, Md.

The entrance to the river has a rather narrow channel and is seldom used by any but small craft engaged in the coasting trade.

There is a good anchorage for light draft vessels just inside the entrance behind Mountain Run Pt.

The shores of the river are mostly occupied by truck farms from which quite a large amount of early vegetables and fruit are shipped to Baltimore. A Railroad Station on the Ball's + Annapolis line is about a mile west of the landing on Dividing Cuck.

About 8 feet of water can be carried up to the head of the bay which forms the lower part of the "River".
