

Field tide reductions are based on predicted tides from the primary station at Anchorage (945-5920), while final tide reductions are based on the same station.